Reduction in male sexual performance is not simply a concern of aging. It's an insightful marker into overall male health. Doc Wheelwright used to say that when the male sexual functions work well, the entire male body has good vitality. He also taught that, more than a quick-fix "pre-performance" approach, herbs could support normal balanced hormone activity.

▼ BACKGROUND

Designed by Doc Wheelwright for general male endocrine health, he employed several adaptogenics and normal testosterone supportive botanicals to invigorate the male endocrine system, as well as prostate health. Supportive of the normal male libido. Doc used to say, "When the male energy is good, then everything works right." This is a balanced formula that respects the male need for proper estrogen function, thus it was built on a yin/yang principle that, while male-dominant in its focus, balance must be maintained. Assists athletes and body builders with anabolic tissue building processes. Supports normal circulation to the male gonads and prostate. Doc often recommended 3-4 capsules twice a day for men needing occasional additional support.
